(5) According to Article 210(Correction slip) of M.S.R. average salary is subject to a maximum of Rs 1500 per mensem, and it is only this amount that is admissible as leave allowance. As leave allowances are also subject to deduction in the same manner as Salaries, the percentage cut is applied to the monthly leave allowances admissible (Vide Govt Order no Fd.3081-140/G.F.90-31-1 dated 2-11-31 sanctioning the salary cut). Hence Dr. Metcalfe is entitled to Rs 1500/- less cut 150/- net leave allowance of Rs 1350/- per mensem during the period of furlough on average salary granted to him, A

(6) I agree with Comptroller (vide A). The request of Dr. Metcalfe is that since the max. Salary permissible to him under art 212(a)(6th Edn MSR) is itself restricted to Rs 1500 which is less than the average salary computed for him by about Rs 300/-, the further Cut of 10% of Rs 1500/-/- need not be made in his case. Though the Govt rules do not permit any exemptions in cases of individual hardship as a general measure. Each case will have to be considered on merits. A.D. 12.10.33

UNIVERSITY OF MYSORE

D.O.No. 15

C.B.101-32-9

C.B-667

MYSORE,

Dated 23rd Septr. 193 3.

Dear Mr. Ramasvami,

I am about to draw the leave allowances due to me for the period of furlough which is just concluded, i.e., from the 26th June 1933 until 21st September 1933 inclusive. I calculate that my gross average salary for over three years would be about Rs.1830/- per mensem. Applying the 10% cut, which may be due on furlough allowances, this would be reduced to Rs.1647 per mensem. I am informed that according to the M.S.R. the maximum amount permissible as furlough allowances is Rs.1500/- per mensem. This amount represents a reduction on the already reduced amount of my average salary. I contend that in the absence of any specific order reducing the maximum permissible leave allowances this amount of Rs.1500/- per mensem should not itself be reduced by the 10% salary cut. I am informed that in the opinion of the Comptroller the amount due to me during the period of my furlough is only Rs.1350/- per mensem. Such a double cut would make me a loser to the total extent of over Rs.1400/- -- a very considerable amount for me.

I should be obliged if you would kindly place the matter before Government, requesting a ruling that while gross leave allowances may be liable to the 10% cut, the maximum allowance permissible under the rules still remains at Rs.1500/- per mensem nett.

Yours sincerely,

H.V. Ramasvami, Esq., M.A., B.L.,

from what is called (technically by courtesy)

my "full average salary".

I was quite unaware of the limitation of the "full average salary" to Rs. 1500/- p.m. —

though, as a matter of fact, the limitation

N is imposed by a rule in M.S.R.

30/9 The officers of the State, besides myself, drawing pay of Rs. 1500/- p.m. and over are

The Dewan.
Members of Council
Chief Judge.
Private Secretary to H. H. the Maharaja
Huzur Secretary
Dr. Coleman
Dr. Robinson
M. A. A. Khan.
M. F. A. Hamilton.

I understand that the Dewan and Councillors are excepted from the rule. Probably the Chief Judge and the Private and Huzur Secretaries are similarly excepted. - Dr. Coleman and Dr. Robinson are on special agreements and probably not affected. M. Khan may similarly be exempt If I am right in these conjectures, the rule operates only against M. Hamilton and me — and possibly not even against M. Hamilton, who is, very likely, on a special agreement. In the circumstances I may perhaps be permitted to suggest that the rule might be abrogated without serious loss to Government.

Dated ..... 193 .

If this cannot be done, I would at ~~least~~ at least request that the limiting allowance of Rs. 1500/- p.m. (which is already less than my "full average salary" reduced by the 10% cut) should not be again reduced by the application of a further 10% cut.

Yours sincerely,

E. Metcalfe.
